

Yellow warning Wind

Between 12:00 Mon 3 May 2021 and
09:00 Tue 4 May 2021

A spell of disruptive winds is likely from Monday afternoon until Tuesday morning.

What to expect

- Some delays to road, rail, air and ferry transport are likely
- Probably some bus and train services affected, with some journeys taking longer
- Delays for high-sided vehicles on exposed routes and bridges likely
- Damage to outdoor temporary structures possible, with some tree branches down too
- It's likely that some coastal routes, sea fronts and coastal communities will be affected by spray and/or large waves

Further details

A vigorous area of low pressure is likely to cross northern England on Monday. Strong winds are expected to the south of the low centre, affecting Wales and western England during Monday afternoon, then extending to central, southern and eastern England later Monday afternoon and evening.

Gusts are likely to widely reach 40 to 50 mph inland, and as high as 60-65 mph around some coasts of southern England and south Wales. The winds should gradually ease through Tuesday morning.

 Medium likelihood of low impacts
